GEE LARRY, WHAT'S WITH ALL THE BRAGGING?

I admit to being a touch immodest in presenting our stats but come on, we are smashing the opposition and I need to know that every Elite client is aware of that.

I realise that the membership renewal rate can never be 100% but our renewal rate is extraordinarily high. Every member is important and I take it very hard when a client leaves this winning service to search for something better amongst the mass of claims that are now out there.

I do not want anyone leaving without knowing what they are giving up.

- If an Elite client is oblivious to how accurate and profitable Elite Racing is and chooses to leave that is understandable.
- If the client is aware of the amazing strike rates and profits and still chooses to search for something "better" it is sad.

The only consolation for us is that at least he had the opportunity to make a go of his punting.

PRO-STRATEGY

Since the previous newsletter, there have been 27 Pro-Strategy for a NET Profit (Betting as per the raceday listed amount) of $592.

Races	27
Winners	11
Bet	$1,365
Return	$1,957
NET Profit	$ 592
Profit %	+ $43%

VEEWAP

At Moonee Valley last Saturday, Veewap was top Elite Rated and marked as a special and was a Pro-Strategy bet. However, he did not qualify for a 'serious' bet under our main betting strategies.

We were very keen on him. The comment on the eRate sheet was: I thought Veewap may rate on top. This is perfect for his first crack at a mile. He has drawn well and with the slightly slower tempo at 1600m Craig might be midfield one-out ready to pounce. Not keen on any of the others.

His recent form reads poorly, he was having his first crack at the mile and he had not won for ages. That combination was enough for the amateurs to put a line through Veewap yet he jumped off the page as the winner to us.

Eraset was a risk and way under the odds especially with the forecast rain and Cosmic Causeway, which ended up on top, also had "little negatives that worry me".

The other tipping services were falling over themselves to declare the false favourite, Eraset. We were super keen on a 10/1 winner but without 'fudging' the ratings, he could not make it as an eRate Top-Rater.

Anyway, the point is that this happens. Not often, but enough times each year to make very serious profits.

They are intuitive, or 'gut feeling' winners that can only be found by experienced racing professionals. (INTUITION may be defined as understanding or knowing without conscious recourse to thought, observation or reason...a response to unconscious cues or implicitly held prior learning)

From now on, these selections will be marked as "AAA" specials on the Elite Ratings Sheets and will be added to all raceday messages. Watch out for them: yet another way to win with Elite!
